Protocol Printer
DPU414-30B

- Thermal printer with 80 characters per line

- Printout of event data, analogue values of detectors, and system configuration

- Optional stand-by battery can be installed

- Installation into 19" rack possible

Description

The Protocol Printer DPU414 is connected to a fire detection control panel via a serial interface module. Depending on the fire detection control panel, the logging includes the element text of the activated detector, the detector zone number, the detector number, date and time as well as any change in the operating condition of the control panel at the beginning and at the end of the event. The data is printed as text in clear, with 80 characters per line. Furthermore, in conjunction with Fire Detection Control Panels Series BC216 and BC016, the whole event memory and the parameterised system configuration can be printed. If ADM loop technology is used, the current analogue values of the detectors, the analogue values of the previous 6 months, as well as a maintenance recommendation for every single detector can be printed once or periodically as well.

The protocol printer can be mounted into a 19" cabinet by means of the 19" Kit DPU2-1E. The printer is supplied through the optional external AC-Adapter PW4007-E1. In addition, an optional stand-by battery can be installed into the printer.
